

I am writing to oppose the weakening of Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law, as challenged by the Consumer Bankers Association. I give my cell phone number out to only a select few that I want calling me and my name is on th "no-call" list specifically to stop unwanted solicitors from calling at all hours. Why, then, would I want them to have my cell phone number? I pay a specific amount each month for cell minutes and am not going to have to pay more because solicitors use them up.
